

Q2 2023

BRANDAMP BY AARP

AARP Real Estate Benefits by Anywhere

The page features a main article titled "How Has Selling a House Changed in the Past Year?" with a sub-headline "Real Estate Benefits by Anywhere". The article includes a photo of a woman in a red shirt and a man in a blue shirt standing in front of a house with a "FOR SALE" sign. The text discusses market trends, such as the increase in home prices and the impact of the economy on the housing market. It also includes a quote from a real estate expert and a section titled "Bidding wars are not a thing of the past".

How Has Selling a House Changed in the Past Year?
Real Estate Benefits by Anywhere

The new year has been a happy one for the real estate market. Home prices have risen, and the market has been hot. According to a report by Zillow, the average price of a home in the U.S. has risen by 10% since the start of the year. This is a significant increase, especially considering the high inflation rate. Home prices are beginning to rise again, after months of decline.

It can be difficult to navigate the market, especially when you're looking to sell your home. There are many factors to consider, and it's important to understand the current market conditions. Real estate agents can help you navigate the process, but it's also important to do your own research.

Below are our top "Real Estate" tips, based on the latest market trends.

The economy is affecting the housing market in multiple ways

How is the economy affecting the housing market? The answer is: in many ways. The economy is affecting the housing market in multiple ways, including interest rates, home prices, and the overall market. The economy is affecting the housing market in multiple ways, including interest rates, home prices, and the overall market.

Bidding wars are not a thing of the past

The housing market is currently in a bidding war, with many homes selling for more than their asking price. This is a sign of a strong market, and it's important to understand the current market conditions and how they may affect your home's value.