Biosphere UNESCO Biosphere Reserve: Water Buffalo at the Biosphere

Rediscover nature. At more than 100 nature parks across Germany, the country's most beautiful terrain is on full display. Picturesque lakes and rivers, islands, forests, hills, and mountain ranges are fully accessible to visitors. These breathtaking landscapes have a mission—each of the 16 UNESCO biosphere reserves promotes the harmonious coexistence of people and nature. At the Biosphere UNESCO Biosphere Reserve in Saarland, for instance, you'll find endangered owls and butterflies mingling with hikers along trails through orchard meadows and beech forests. Visit remote Alpine pastures and traditional villages, hike through idyllic orchards and romantic vineyards or follow the popular cycling route with stops for a sip of Riesling, white Burgundy, or Dornfelder, and become one with nature.
