Have Confidence: 5 Guidelines for Real Estate Buying Success

1 IDENTIFY WHAT'S MOST IMPORTANT TO YOU.

Creating a list of priorities can help narrow your search and maximize efficiency.

Making Your New Home, Home Sweet Home

While it's true you're leaving one physical space for another, there are ways to incorporate the warmth and comfort of your old home into your new one.

Recreate Spaces Similar to What You Loved in Your Old Home

Think back to the spaces that brought you joy in your old home – like the dining room table that was home to many family meals and fun game nights, or your reading nook where you could get lost in a good book. Then, imagine how you could recreate those spaces in your new home to keep those happy memories alive.

Get a Little Crafty with a Keepsake Box

Your family photos and kindergarten art projects might be scattered across your old house. Curate a keepsake box filled with family mementos you can conveniently look through whenever the mood strikes. Better yet, involve the whole family and ask everyone to choose a couple of meaningful items to include.

Embrace the New and Improved Aspects of Your Home

Let's face it, every home has a few imperfections you're probably happy to leave behind – like shower pressure that was always too low. In your new home, take a moment to embrace the new features you're excited to enjoy.

Make the move even sweeter when you use your AARP member benefit with Realogy. As an AARP member, you're eligible to sign up for free with AARP® Real Estate Benefits from Realogy.
